People To Have Voice in City School Building Program

People of Washington C. H. and area will have a voice in helping draw up a building program for the schools here.
Members of the city school board voted Tuesday night to invite the general public to an open meeting for the purpose of talking over school expansion plans. No date has been set yet for the meeting.
Some outstanding representative from the state Department of Education who is versed in school financing will be invited to speak at the meeting.

The board feels that such a public meeting would be in the democratic tradition. The members say the decision as to what plan to follow is too great for five men to decide.
Pressure continues to mount among PTA groups and other organizations for the school board to present some definite program soon so that a bond issue can be presented to the voters in the fall.
Tuesday night the urging came from the city PTA Council and the Mother's Circle in the form of resolutions. Both groups asked the school board to adopt a plan and present it to the voters at the next general election.

Just what form plans to provide additional classrooms for the city school system will take has not been determined. The school board hopes that the public will help guide them in making a decision.
Suggested Plans
Two suggested plans are shaping up, however. They are:
(1) Take care of some of the immediate and future needs of the elementary schools by building a new school to replace Eastside and possibly adding classrooms to other buildings where enrollments are mounting most rapidly.

(2) Build a county high school somewhere in the county but outside city limits, with city and county sharing the cost and convert the city high school to an elementary seventh and eighth grade building. High school students from the city and county would attend.

Clean-up and Paint-up Week Here Is Getting Off to an Early Start

Young and Old Busy Inside And Outdoors

There were many people in Washington C. H. who jumped the gun on "Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week," slated to be held here from May 12-19.

With the weather beckoning, the city street crews came out in force to paint curbs in no parking areas in the downtown area.
A few store proprietors got in the cleaning mood too, having their store fronts painted up.
It was in the home, however, where many housewives found they could get a head start on the "Clean-up Week."

There was visible evidence from the clothesline, where freshly washed rugs hung, and from ladders propped against the sides of homes, with window cleaners busy atop them, that spring housecleaning had its start here.

Boy Scouts were not immune to the spirit of cleaning up which is prevailing here. The American Legion Boy Scout troop was busy this week painting their meeting place in the basement of the American Legion Hall.

And the Lions Club-sponsored Boy Scout troop was hard at work getting a barn at Washington Park converted to a clubhouse.

Meantime, plans are going ahead rapidly for "Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week."

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Most people feel very lucky if they find just one four-leaf clover.

So, just imagine how Thurman Gorman felt when he found a clover plant with three, four, five, six and even seven leaves on it...

Gorman has been a farmer all his life and he said he had never seen anything like it before. It looks just like any other red clover, he said.

And, he is not the only one baffled by what he believes is a freak of nature. Neither V. R. McCoy nor D. T. McLean, who have seen a lot of clover at close range in their time, said Gorman's plant was something new to them.

So intrigued were they all that Gorman's son, Homer L. Gorman, has made an appointment with Dr. Frank Hazard of Wilmington College, to show it to him Thursday evening.

Gorman now lives on Dr. Robert Little's farm near Jeffersonville. That's where he found Nature's oddity.

Now, I suppose, someone will come along and say that clover like this is common.

Price Ceilings on Beef Clamped on As Predictions of Shortage Grow

CHICAGO, May 9—(AP)—Price ceilings on beef sold at wholesale became effective today amid indications that cattlemen were withholding stock shipments in protest against government rollbacks.

The Office of Price Stabilization on April 28 issued four orders designed to trim a dime a pound off the butcher shop price of beef by October. But, the American Meat Institute, which represents the major packers, and the livestock men warned that the OPS orders will lead to beef shortages and illegal markets.

Dollar and cents retail ceilings will be clamped down next Monday. Butcher shops must post retail ceiling price charts, by grade and cut, by June 4.

The OPS order, which aroused the ire of cattlemen and livestock feeders, however, appears to be the 10 percent cut in prices which slaughterers may pay the farmer for cattle. This order goes into effect May 20. A third OPS directive provides that cattle prices to slaughterers are to be reduced an additional 4½ percent on Aug. 1 and by the same amount on Oct. 1.
On the same dates, a fourth OPS order provides, retail beef price reductions of from four to five cents a pound will go into effect for a total rollback of about nine cents a pound.

The OPS estimated the new regulations will save the American public about $700,000,000 a year. However, the American Meat Institute said in a statement yesterday "the black marketers are getting ready for a flourishing business."

STABILIZER STANDS PAT
KANSAS CITY, May 9—(AP)—Michael V. DiSalle says "no amount of pressure from anyone will change the picture as far as I am concerned" on the beef price rollback order.

The order calls for progressively reduced price ceilings on live cattle.

The director of the Office of Price Stabilization said in an interview last night:

"The people who are causing all this disturbance over the order will have to demonstrate clearly to me that this order isn't fair, isn't equitable or essential to the stabilization program."

FOOD PRICE OUTLOOK
WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The agriculture department predicted today currently high food prices will remain fairly stable from now at least until early summer.

This forecast was based upon the assumption there will be no change in the international situation which might encourage scare buying by consumers.

Supplies of most foods were said to be adequate to maintain civilian consumption at least as large as a year earlier.

Retail food prices for the first quarter of this year were said to have averaged almost 15 percent higher than a year earlier. Largest increases were reported for meats, eggs, fats and oils, and processed fruits and vegetables.

The department said it is likely food prices will tend to increase more in the latter part of the year. It is said the military and export demand will be stronger then and contribute to the upward price pressure started by the Korean war.

Mary Astor's Rival Gets Remorse and Tries Suicide too

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., May 9—(AP)—A dancer who accompanied Actress Mary Astor's husband on a tour of nightclubs Monday night when Miss Astor took an overdose of sleeping pills, is herself in a hospital this morning. Police said the dancer also had taken an overdose of a sleeping potion.

The woman was identified by Police Detective Sgt. Joe Gebhardt as Joan Blair Casparis, 33. The detective said her escort Monday night was Broker Thomas Wheelock, husband of Miss Astor.

An attending physician reported today Miss Casparis is in a serious condition but expected to recover. She was still unconscious several hours after being taken to California Lutheran Hospital in Los Angeles.

Miss Astor, who took sleeping pills after a period of despondency, was reported out of danger after treatment.

Police said Miss Casparis was found unconscious last night after Wheelock had tried unsuccessfully to rouse her by telephone in her room at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

President Plays Piano Given on 'Music Week'

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—President Truman gave an impromptu piano recital at the White House today.

His program included "The Little Fairy" which, he told his enthusiastic audience, "was the first piece I ever learned."

The president performed on a new piano presented to him to dramatize observance of "National Music Week."

TYPICAL of the thousands who have the same numb, helpless, appealing look as they face north or south, depending on the tide of battle, this Korean youngster tries to ward off the rain with a few old socks. Here, he is fleeing Seoul once more as the enemy draws near. (International)

Police Force Again Reduced

Zeke Colwell Quits To Operate Farm

Everett (Zeke) Colwell, for two years a member of the Washington C. H. police force, has resigned. He was on duty for the last time Tuesday night.

Colwell resigned his position by reason of the fact that his father died in Madison County recently, and he found it necessary to return to the farm and take up the task of operating the Colwell farm.

He has been a popular member of the force and was considered a good officer.

Colwell's resignation, following that of Roy C. Underwood, who becomes deputy sheriff May 16, leaves two vacancies on the police force.

Chief Vaiden Long said Wednesday that an early civil service examination will be asked to obtain an eligible list from which to appoint new policemen.

In the meantime, he said, it will be necessary to name new members of the force temporarily to bring the force up to its regular quota.

Rioting Breaks Out In Panama Capital

PANAMA, Panama, May 9—(AP)—Shooting and mob attacks broke out in this capital today during a general strike against the president which paralyzed the whole tense city.

The radio station which has been supporting President Arnulfo Arias was attacked by a mob. Eye-witnesses said equipment was destroyed.

The attack, the witnesses said, was made under fire from the radio station in which some persons were wounded. Police went into action to round up persons carrying firearms, and at the same time truckloads of supporters of Arias began arriving in the city from outlying areas. They rode government trucks.

The general strike followed the president's switching of constitutions in a move to give himself broad powers against what he called the threat of Communist subversion this country, a vital link in the western world's defense system because of the location here of the Panama Canal.

Gen. Ridgway Is Promoted

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—President Truman today raised Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's successor in the Far East, to the rank of full general.

The president sent to the Senate, for its confirmation, the promotion which will give Ridgway a fourth star. MacArthur is a five-star general of the army.

Ridgway has been serving as commander-in-chief in the Far East and commander of United Nations forces in Korea, as well as head of occupation forces in Japan since President Truman ordered MacArthur to relinquish those commands on April 11.

Biggest Raid Yet Hits Red Air Base

Red Troops Still Pulling Back From Allied Ground Offensive

TOKYO, May 9—(AP)—More than 300 Allied planes smashed a Red air field on the Korea-Manchuria border today to prevent an expected Communist aerial offensive.

It was the biggest raid of the war. But first official reports didn't look like much. The Fifth Air Force said two Red planes were damaged in the air, two were destroyed and one was damaged on the ground.

Precisely what happened in the thundering raid was screened by flames and smoke. Returning pilots said 10 square miles were blanketed by smoke and flames.

The target was Sinuiju air field where 70 to 100 Red planes had been spotted on the ground.

The attack was made by 312 jets and fighter-bombers. They came from every United Nations air field in Korea. For half an hour early Wednesday afternoon they blasted and burned the airfield in northwestern Korea.

The big blow at Sinuiju followed front line reports that Chinese were angered at Russian failure to supply tanks or planes for their spring offensive. The air show completely overshadowed ground operations. Red troops continued to pull back from armored allied jabs.

South Korean troops expanded their three bridgeheads inside Red Korea. All were on the eastern front.

The third crossing of the 38th parallel was made Tuesday south-east of the Red supply base of Inje. An earlier wedge was driven south of Inje. Other South Koreans were north of the border on the eastern seaboard.

South Koreans on the western sector on both sides of the Han River also advanced north of Seoul.

These were the only solid fronts.

O'Dwyer's Pal Facing Prison

NEW YORK, May 9—(AP)—James J. Moran, holder of a lifetime $15,000-a-year city job just a few weeks ago—today faced the possibility of five years in a federal prison as a Kefauver committee perjurer.

Moran, a buddy of ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer for many years, was under conviction for lying about his relations with Brooklyn numbers racketeer Louis Weber.

Sentence will be imposed Friday by Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey. The maximum possible penalty for the perjury conviction is five years and a $2,000 fine.

Moran's counsel, Joseph L. Delaney, said he would advise Moran to appeal the sentence. No witnesses were called in Moran's defense, and he did not take the stand.

The 49-year-old politician is the first U. S. Senate crime committee witness to be brought to trial here.

The guilty verdict was reported late yesterday by a jury of seven women and five men after a trial lasting less than four court days. The jury deliberated only one hour and 35 minutes.

El Salvador Quake Toll Now Up to 1,200

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, May 9—(AP)—The death toll from El Salvador's weekend earthquake rose to 1,200 persons today as new reports filtered slowly into the capital from isolated regions in the disaster zone. The injured were reckoned at 4,000 or more.

With many villages in the quake area still cut off, casualty figures were incomplete. The government earlier had estimated that "over 1,000" persons died in the upheaval in the eastern part of the country.

President Oscar Osorio last night ordered martial law in the devastated region. Aid was being rushed to the injured and homeless.

Truman Outlines Security Plans

Preparedness Key To Curbing Reds

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—President Truman said today a "definite concrete plan" for greater military strength and industrial mobilization has been developed in case Moscow is "reckless enough" to start a third world war.

In a speech for some 400 industrialists attending a meeting of the Interior Department's industry council, Mr. Truman said peace in Korea "would not put an end to the global danger of Soviet aggression."

Therefore, he said, the U. S. must:

1. Build up enough military strength "to convince the Kremlin that it ought not to start a world war."

2. Prepare to mobilize quickly for war "in case the Kremlin is reckless enough, in spite of everything, to plunge the world into a general conflict."

To do these things, Mr. Truman added, the nation's military and civilian defense experts have prepared a concrete plan providing for bigger armed forces and laying the foundation for "complete mobilization, if that should become necessary."

"We must carry out that plan as rapidly as we possibly can," he asserted, and he added: "We want to reach our goal just as fast as the men can be trained, the plants built, and the equipment and supplies turned out."

The president said he is sure the U. S., with other free nations, can achieve victory in the struggle with Soviet Communism, but it will take hard work by all, and the kind of patriotism that puts "the national interest ahead of selfish interest."

He said the "inflationary gap" in the next year or two, as expanding military production creates civilian goods shortages, is "going to get worse before it gets better."

To combat this, he asserted, inflation must be hit hard by these measures:

1. Extending controls on prices, wages, credit and rents without "special exemptions for special groups."

2. Maintaining price and wage controls for the next two or three years at least.

3. Levying heavier taxes.

Gen. Ridgway Is Promoted

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—President Truman today raised Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's successor in the Far East, to the rank of full general.

The president sent to the Senate, for its confirmation, the promotion which will give Ridgway a fourth star. MacArthur is a five-star general of the army.

Ridgway has been serving as commander-in-chief in the Far East and commander of United Nations forces in Korea, as well as head of occupation forces in Japan since President Truman ordered MacArthur to relinquish those commands on April 11.

No Heat Put on By Allies, Says Sec'y. Marshall

Letter to Sen. Wiley Brought Matter to Head, Probers Told

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—Secretary Marshall said today Gen. Douglas MacArthur's quarrel with Korean war policy created "uneasiness" among U. S. allies and threatened to leave this country "going it alone" there.

But Marshall denied under questioning from senators the allies brought about MacArthur's removal. He said: "They gave no expression of that kind even remotely that I can recall pertaining to his relief."

MacArthur's removal was necessary, Marshall declared, because his statement raised the issue of "what voice spoke from this country in the matter of foreign policy."

The defense secretary testified for the third day to the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees.

Under questioning, Marshall said: 1. MacArthur's proposals for hitting directly at the Chinese Communists might lead to "very much larger" U. S. and allied casualties rather than saving lives as the deposed Far Eastern commander contends.

2. The restrictions placed on the fighting—"that is the effort to limit it to Korea—have only 'very slightly affected—maybe not at all'—the casualties in the war."

3. MacArthur was denied authority to bomb Manchurian bases, blockade the China coast and use Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa for two chief reasons:

"Partly because of the feeling of our allies and partly because of our own feelings that to act otherwise in those limitations under the general conditions would possibly result in a very much larger casualty list."

4. No Japanese have been allowed to serve with United Nations troops in Korea largely because a Chinese-Russian defense pact is aimed at Japan. This implication here was that there was concern the Russians might come into the war if Japanese were used, even as "volunteers."

The issue of whether the allies brought about MacArthur's removal was explored in a long series of exchanges with Senator Wiley (R-Wis.).

Marshall said the allied did not dictate the general's ouster or even express themselves on the question.

He added, however, that the "importance" of U. S. relations with other members of the United Nations had a direct bearing on the ouster.

Wiley asked: "Then you mean the pressure by the allies was so severe because MacArthur had dared to say what he did say—and I want a bill of particulars—what he did say irritated the allies, that it jeopardized our relationship. You mean they would have pulled out?"

"That would remain to be seen," Marshall replied.

Earlier, however, Marshall had said the allies had grown so uneasy that the United Nations was threatened with a situation of having to go it alone.

That some phase came into the testimony of MacArthur who was before the committees last week, MacArthur argued that the Communists must be met and defeated in Korea or the free world was "doomed."

On that premise, MacArthur said the United States should go ahead with whatever steps were necessary to defeat the Chinese Communists even if it did mean this country must "go it alone."

Marshall's discussion of the present casualty rate, and what it might be under MacArthur's program, was obviously aimed at MacArthur's argument the present limited war policy can lead only to a "bloody stalemate" and continued loss of American lives.

CHICAGO, May 9.—(P)—Price changes again, were small in grains on the Board of Trade today.

Oats displayed considerable weakness at one time, a result of receipts of more cash oats from Canada.

Soybeans had a run-up at one time but subsequently lost the gains.

Wheat continued to meet mild hedging pressure as receipts of cash grain at major terminals ran well ahead of a year ago.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—We bust our stitches debating roops-for-Europe and no sooner finish than we get up to our necks in the Truman-MacArthur fracas.

And while we argue what we should do abroad, we're starting another debate on what we should do here at home. Congress has started hearings on whether to continue the Defense Production Act (DPA).

Congress passed DPA late last summer when the defense program started because it faced a problem: since the program would chew up materials, when they got scarce, how could inflation be avoided?

So Congress passed DPA which gives the government authority to control materials, wages, prices. But Congress said DPA and all the controls would end June 30 unless-- Congress by that time, having looked over the situation, decided DPA and the controls were still needed and therefore voted to continue DPA another year or so.

Since the defense program will continue several years, at least, Congress isn't likely to wipe out DPA and the controls altogether although it may make some changes in the act.

President Truman not only wants DPA continued -- he wants Congress to renew it for two years beyond June 30 -- but he also wants it strengthened, which means giving the government even more control power.

The Senate banking and currency committee began hearings yesterday into all this, planning to hold them for 20 days while 60 witnesses say what they think of it: representatives of government agencies, unions, and farm and business organizations.

This will probably produce a repetition of what happened in the days of OPA, every time Congress faced the problem of renewing OPA for another year or abolishing it.

Each group in turn seemed to say: "oh, by all means, keep OPA because it's needed but it's too tough on us." In other words, it's fine for the other guy, but not for me.

Meanwhile, there's another fire in progress: this is the fight over the government's order of April 28 to roll back prices on beef. People in the meat business, and their supporters in Congress, are kicking up a storm.

This meat order of OPS -- the Office of Price Stabilization -- had hardly been issued before the meat industry began to swamp Congress with protests, either by telegram or personal representatives who rushed here.

Pretty soon some powerful voices in Congress began to protest the order. For instance, Senator Ellender, Louisiana Democrat and chairman of the Senate's agriculture committee, predicted:

"Black markets and rationing by Nov. 1 unless the beef order was abolished. Ellender was not alone. Senator Maybank, South Carolina Democrat and chairman of the Senate banking and currency committee, joined him.

Maybank said this rollback order would cut down on the production of meat. Which is another way of saying that meat growers will produce less if their profits are cut down.

And yesterday Michael V. DiSalle, OPS boss, was called before a hurried meeting of the House agriculture committee to explain his action.

DiSalle thinks the whole anti-inflation program would become a joke if meat prices go uncon-

Speaker Warns Nation Faces Need for Saving

Rotary Club Hears Talk by Columbus Insurance Man

An address, brimful of common sense and sound thinking, was thoroughly enjoyed and vigorously applauded by Rotarians and guests at their luncheon at the Country Club Tuesday.

The speaker was Claris Adams, president of the Ohio State Life Insurance Company, who talked on the general theme of our present national economic situation under the subject "What's Ahead?"

President Adams is a business man of high standing. He has been head of the Columbus Community Chest organization twice, is a director in the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, a national director in the Institute of Life Insurance and also is identified with the Boy Scout organization as a member of the Boy Scout Regional Committee covering four states.

Introduced by Webber French, who substituted for Dewey Sheidler of the May program committee, absent because of illness, Adams proved to be an earnest and forceful speaker.

Economy and Production

Step by step he touched upon the condition of our national economy from the first World War down to the present time, stressing the vital part played by phenomenal American production and trolled. And further, on the subject of profits, he says he thinks the meat people are making plenty of profits and can continue to make them, even under controlled prices.

pointing out that no country in the world's history had ever shown such accomplishment.

He stated that in the first World War this nation had paid a third of the entire cost. Then came the second World War on which this country paid a full half of the cost of the entire struggle.

It was immediately after this, he asserted, that we began to follow the easy way in this country and failed to meet the situation squarely by paying enough in taxes and effort to take care of the heavy responsibility of keeping our economy within steady and safe lines. The people and most of their officials failed to realize what we would have to do to get the nation back on a sound basis as it was before the world wars struck us a terrific economic blow. Inflationary measures began to catch the public fancy as an easy way to prosperity, without recognizing how unsound such a prosperity could become.

No Reason for War

"Today in the midst of all this war talk," he declared, "I can see no intelligent reason for a war with Russia, but if it does come, this nation, to survive, must be ready for grave eventualities."

The speaker asserted that to keep our economic situation within bounds, safe credit controls, more savings by people and more taxes must be faced. As to taxes he declared that the public must be made to realize that the burden has to be spread with reasonable equality.

Our greatest problem today, he contended, is the constant effort by many to make somebody else pay part of their share in the taxes. In this labor and agriculture are far from blameless, he indicated. Corporations cannot pay 50 percent of this entire burden, every business and every individual must put in his share.

Cheap money has become the plague of the country and unless some of this money is saved and put aside for future use, the whole nation will suffer, he said. There must be a premium put on savings and the entire public will have to learn the A B and Cs of our economic structure.

"We are facing a situation such as no other nation in the history of the world ever has faced. To meet it will require serious national thinking, intelligent and patriotic leadership, and a definite strength of purpose."

President Adams quoted figures concerning this country's foreign commitments and other financial responsibilities, which proved rather breathtaking, in supporting his arguments.

When he closed, Rotary President Himmelsbach paid him a high compliment for his message.

Previous to the regular program President Himmelsbach called the club members' attention to the fact that Clyde Snodgrass, manager of the Morris Store has been promoted to a higher position with his company and leaves soon for Owosso, Michigan.

Snodgrass in turn stated that he regretted leaving the club here as he had never enjoyed any organization more in his life. He also introduced the new store manager, Eldon Dame of Toledo, who replaces him.

The new high school student guest Roger Davis was introduced by Donald Lange. A brief word of thanks and appreciation was spoken by the outgoing student guest, Kenneth Cline.

Stanley Schneider was the recipient of the usual "happy birthday" greetings during the meeting.

College Trains Class at Armco

First Instruction Of Kind Given

Wilmington College began a new phase of its industrial training program Monday night, when the first adult industrial supervision course was inaugurated at the Armco Steel Co. Plant at Washington C. H.

A course in managing men at work, which will deal with the human relations aspect of industrial supervision, is being taught by Prof. Menzo Stark, chairman of the department of industrial arts and engineering.

All of the foremen at the Armco Plant here are enrolled for the class, which will meet one evening each week.

This course is one of the curriculum which has been developed by Wilmington College in co-operation with the Cincinnati Industrial Institute and Armco for a four-year training program of students who wish to go into industrial supervisory work.

The program is already in operation on a limited scale, but this will be the first course on the adult level to be offered.

3 GOOD REASONS FOR SAVING MONEY

Are you preparing for your children's future? Saving regularly helps.

The Washington
Savings Bank

"Termites" Are Riding High Along Potomac

When Senator Fulbright charged recently that America's foundations are being chewed up by "the termites of graft, corruption and greedy pride", he was not merely indulging in a bit of rhetoric. He was calling attention to a situation in national government which is little short of appalling.

In too many ways, the Arkansas senator declares, present conditions are comparable to those which existed in Rome before the fall of that ancient empire, and which have brought destruction to a score of other civilizations.

In Washington, he declares, the limousine has become the symbol of political prosperity. Everyone has one, down to the third assistant secretary. Every morning there is a parade of big cars, carrying officials of high and low degree at government expense.

Even the Senate sergeant-at-arms rates one, with chauffeur. Twenty big cars are assigned to the personal use of the president and his immediate staff. Nor is a single limousine to be dispensed with in the interest of economy as the administration demands billions upon billions in additional taxes.

Senator Fulbright advocates that a commission composed of 10 leading citizens—none selected for political reasons—study the nation's financial and economic problems, in an attempt to bring some order out of this waste and extravagance. This should be backed by a reformation, he declares, in which all those in government pledge a return to fundamentals upon which the nation was founded, including—as did the forefathers—their sacred honor.

No Slogans Inspired

General MacArthur says the only way he knows to win a war is to fight it. This points attention to the fact America's memorable military slogans are all aggressive. None contains mention of a "limited" war. Here are some:

Sir, I have not yet begun to fight.
Don't give up the ship.

We have met the enemy and they are ours.

By authority of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress.
Remember the Alamo!

Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes.

Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead.
There many others, including "getting thar fustest with the mostest". There was the World War I sergeant who led a charge yelling, "Come on, do you want to live forever?"

In World War II, least productive of slogans of all the nation's wars, there were a few, among them "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition", and "Coming in on a wing and a prayer".

Now the nation is engaged in this curious Korean war, which was never declared by Congress, with its veto on aggressive action. There is nothing about it to evoke inspiring slogans. It does not suggest to the American that initiative to which he was born and bred.

Hunting the Answer

How best the educational process may be continued after formal schooling is over is a problem the Ford Foundation has set itself. It does not profess to know the answers, but intends, so far as humanely possible, to find out. To this end the foundation has allotted $3,000,000 to the fund for adult education for interim experimental work under a distinguished group of directors culled from educational, social and business life.

The purpose of the fund is indicated by this quotation from the 1950 report of the foundation:

"Education must meet the needs of the human spirit. It must assist persons to develop a satisfactory personal philosophy and sense of values; to cultivate tastes for music, literature and the arts, and to grow in ability to analyze problems and arrive at thoughtful conclusions."

100,000 Sonnets Keep Doc Busy

NEW YORK — Among other distinctions, Merrill Moore is one of our few poets, if not our only poet, whose work is reviewed in medical journals.

His latest little volume, "Illegitimate Sonnets" (Wayne Publishers), was favorably received by the New England Journal of Medicine, along with some non-lyrical works titled "A Primer of Venous Pressure," "Pathology in General Surgery" and "The Abnormal Pneumocencephalogram."

The medical interest in Moore's non-medical, uninhibited, realistic poems is easily explained. For, besides being the world's most prolific producer of sonnets, a long distance swimmer (who at 48 still crawls two miles just for exercise) and an industrious sea shell collector, Merrill Moore also is a prominent Boston psychiatrist.

He believes he is the first poet to have his work reviewed in the New England Journal of Medicine since Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Dr. Moore also has been reviewed by lay critics. Those who liked his poetry said of him: "Kinsey in verse" . . . "acute insight" . . . "Dr. Moore's therapy for the repressed traditional sonnet has released its inhibitions and shown it how to go out and have a good time . . ."

Dr. Moore, a tall, ruddy man with greying brown hair and an easy out-going manner, estimates that in the past 30 years he has written more than 100,000 sonnets. They are all filed chronologically in a 20 x 20 x 20 building built just for that purpose behind his Boston home.

He has published about 2,000 sonnets. "Only about one out of 20," he says, "is worth printing. But I'd rather write 10 lousy sonnets and not lose on good one than wait and wait and not write any at all."

The poet-psychiatrist's father was John Trotwood Moore, a writer of highly romantic, Orthodox novels. Dr. Moore's poetry is far from Orthodox.

"Psychoanalytically, I suppose, I was competing with my father," he explains. "But I find it easier to write sonnets than not to write them. They provide an escape from my work, a chance at self-study and an opportunity to set my fantasies down."

One-third of his poetic character, he estimates, are drawn from his patients and friends, one-third from his imagination and one-third "are just me."

Only one patient, out of many hundreds, recognized himself in a Dr. Moore sonnet. "She was so happy," the poet reports, "she wanted me to use her real name."

Dr. Moore grabs at any free moment to create his poetry. He composes between patients, dictates to a portable recorder in his car (someone else does the driving) and writes late at night at home.

His wife, the doctor reports, likes his poetry. The rest of the family only "tolerates" it. His four children are more interested in jolopies, boats, jam sessions and Roy Rogers.

Frequently Dr. Moore finds himself writing a sonnet without understanding it immediately.

"I think the creative unconscious," he explains, "writes the poem. It comes up, as if a dumb waiter, from the cellar kitchen of the mind, and the conscious mind writes it down. Putting it another way, it's cooked by the unconscious and served by the conscious."

John Garfield at Commie Probe

When a witness appears before a congressional committee, he can adopt the attitude that he was called because he has something to contribute or that he was called because the committee wants to get something on him. Certainly those who are called in the Communist cases often feel embarrassed by the subpoena, for there is always the fear that the public might assume that being called for evidence is being accused by subversion.

John Garfield, the motion picture actor, went to the House committee on un-American activities accompanied by his lawyer, Louis Nizer, and by public relations counsel and his testimony was glibly and cleverly told, but there was in it something that I do not understand. Here it is:

John Garfield said that he went out to Hollywood in 1938. So he was asked by Congressman Velde: "When did you first come to this realization that there was a Communist party in Hollywood?"

"Mr. Garfield. As I said before, when I quit the Wallace thing I felt he was being captured by a group of Communists...."

"Mr. Velde. You didn't know before that time that there was a Communist party organization in Hollywood?"

"Mr. Garfield. I did not.
"Mr. Velde. That was approximately what date that you decided there was a Communist movement in Hollywood?"

"Mr. Garfield. Late 1947 or 1948."

How could any man be in Hollywood, be situated there, live there, read the newspapers and not know that there was a Communist movement in Hollywood between 1938 and 1948? I should like to know how the whole history of those 10 years could be missed by John Garfield or by anyone else who can read.

Mr. Velde was also surprised. He asked:

"Do you want to go on record as saying you had no knowledge whatsoever of any Communist party movement in Hollywood until the time you broke with the Wallace party?"

"Mr. Garfield. Absolutely and positively."

So Congressman Jackson got into it and his colloquy occurred:
"Mr. Jackson. Mr. Garfield, I am still afraid that I am not entirely convinced of the accuracy of your testimony or the measure of cooperation you are giving this committee. You have stated your contention that you did not know the group theater, which for all of its artistry was pretty well shot through the philosophy of Communism."

"Mr. Garfield. That is not true.
"Mr. Jackson. That is a matter of opinion. You contend that during of that time in New York you did not know a Communist?"

"Mr. Garfield. That is right."

By George Sokolsky

"Mr. Jackson. And you contend that during the seven and one-half years or more that you were in Hollywood and in close contact with a situation in which a number of Communist cells were operating on a week-to-week basis, with electricians, actors, and every class represented, that during the entire period of time you were in Hollywood you did not know of your own personal knowledge a member of the Communist party?"

"Mr. Garfield. That is absolutely correct, because I was not a party member or associated in any shape, way or form."

"Mr. Jackson. During that period it might interest you to know attempts were made to recruit me into the Communist party, and I was making $32.50 a week."

"Mr. Garfield. They certainly stayed away from me, sir."

I do not say that Mr. Garfield is or is not a Communist. I do not know and I am not called to sit in judgment. Nor do I question the veracity of his statements. Nor can he assuage my doubts that any man who lives in cities like New York or Hollywood, who moves in intellectual circles, who gives evidence of being literate and intelligent, could possibly live between the years 1938 and 1948 and not know anything at all about a Communist movement in Hollywood. Maybe it is possible, but as Mr. Jackson said, I am not convinced. Congressman Jackson said:

"I do say that for one who is as intelligent and as well qualified as this witness has proven himself to be, it shows a naive or unintelligent approach to this problem for him to contend that he could have lived with this activity ten, eleven, or fifteen years and not know more about it than he acknowledges."

It just does not ring the bell!

Diet and Health Internal Birthmark Considered as Tumor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

It is not commonly known that the same overgrowth of blood vessels which accounts for the ordinary "birthmark" when it appears on the skin can also occur in other parts of the body. Medically, such growths are considered as tumors and are known as hemangiomas. By far the most common type of tumor occurring in newborn babies, they are either apparent at birth or show up soon thereafter.

They may vary in size from a tiny spot to those which cover almost half of the body. As I said earlier, they are sometimes found internally, but the great majority, however, occur on the skin and in tissues near the skin, the favorite location being on the skin of the head and neck. Less commonly they are found around the eye, in the brain, on the tongue, in the intestinal tract, or in the liver. There is an indication that girls have the condition twice as often as boys.

Size of Tumor

Just what treatment should be used depends not only on the size of the tumor but also on its location. Obviously, if the hemangioma is located in the brain, or in any of the intestinal organs, operative treatment will be necessary.

One type of these tumors is known as a portwine stain. These are large purplish growths which are usually flat. It has been suggested that in some cases these markings may be made less noticeable by rubbing with sandpaper. Of course, this must be carried out in a hospital. The camouflaging of these marks is often possible with various cosmetics, and sometimes they can be permanently camouflaged by tattooing. Small hemangiomas on the surface of the skin may be frozen with dry ice. Larger ones are sometimes treated by injecting sclerosing solutions into them, or by tying off blood vessels. Many of them, however, require surgical removal, the best and quickest method where the tumor is well sealed off from surrounding tissue.

X-Ray Treatment

The treatment of any hemangioma with X-ray should be carried out with the greatest caution, particularly if the growth is near the breast bone, spinal column, on the scalp, breast, or eye. On the other hand, a hemangioma of the tongue or liver may best be treated by X-ray or radium.

In each instance, the growth must be carefully studied to determine its type and the selection of treatment, on the basis of the method which will most quickly and safely eliminate it.

Russia's Proposal Turned Down by US

WASHINGTON, May 9 —(P)—The United States today rejected Russia's proposal to turn over the drafting of a Japanese peace treaty to four Pacific powers including Communist China.

Russia's purpose in advancing the proposal yesterday was to obtain a "double veto" over a Japanese peace settlement, the State Department said.

The United States intends, a department spokesman made plain to go ahead with the present preparations for a settlement for Japan with or without Russian participation.

The U. S. has been consulting 15 other nations in working out treaty terms and it is hoped to have a draft ready for signing within a few weeks.

New Jersey has voted Democratic in all but four presidential elections since 1872.

Students To Grade College Teachers

WILMINGTON, May 9 —(P)—Here is something a lot of school students have been waiting for—a chance to grade the teacher.

Officials at Wilmington College announced today the student senate has set up a plan by which each student will rate his instructors with grades from "A" to "F" on approximately a score of points.

Points on which the instructors will be graded include knowledge of the subject matter, stimulation of intellectual curiosity, preparations made for lectures, ability to give representatives examinations and personal appearance.

The idea, a student senate spokesman said, is to help professors realize their strong and weak points and become more effective as teachers.

End of Controls By 1953 Foreseen

LOS ANGELES, May 9 —(P)—Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston sees complete removal of wage and price controls in 1953.

This depends, however, upon the Economic Stabilization program working for the next two years, and seeing that it works is the responsibility, he told a town hall luncheon yesterday, of every American.

Johnston based his forecast of the 1953 removal of controls on his belief that by then expanding American industry will have built such a stockpile of war hardware as to discourage ambitions of any aggressor, thereby making it possible to resume production of consumer goods.

Womenfolk To Serve Homy Meal To Give Memorial Hospital a Lift

Ceiling Prices Must Be Listed

New Cancer Treatment Method Is Investigated by Scientists

Fayette County Memorial Hospital is going to receive some money from a benefit dinner next Friday, all because Mrs. Sam Coil doesn't know how to play cards.

This might sound a little odd, but here's the way it all happened.

Mrs. Coil was recently released from the hospital and she decided to see if there wasn't some way she could help raise some money to help buy a few of the many things needed in the hospital, perhaps to show her appreciation for the way she was treated while a patient there.

Lots of people in Fayette County have been holding card parties to raise money, but as Mrs. Coil puts it: "I didn't know how to play bridge or canasta."

After a little thought and talk around her neighborhood, Mrs. Coil struck upon the idea of having a family style dinner for anyone who was hungry.

She and her daughters and some of the neighbors went to all the grocery stores, dairies, fruit stands and a bakery for donations of food to be used in the meal. All came through generously, Mrs. Coil reports. Now they are busy getting ready to serve the big benefit dinner Friday.

The menu reads something like this: baked ham, chicken and noodles, potatoes and gravy, baked beans, macaroni and cheese, cole slaw, pineapple salad, hot rolls and a drink.

How Can You JUDGE a Roof?

Roofs look alike, but they don't wear alike. The best way to judge roofing value is by the record of the merchant who sells it and the name of the manufacturer who makes it.

We sell Carey Roofings and Shingles—products bearing a name which has signified quality for over 60 years. And our prices on these extra quality roofs are as low as ordinary roofs cost elsewhere.

Reductions Scheduled During Summer

Retail butchers here as well as throughout Ohio are required to post, by June 4, the new ceiling prices for beef cuts, which go into effect May 14, according to Edward F. Wagner, district OPS director.

These beef prices will be effective until July 31. On that date the Office of Price Stabilization will put into effect the first of the two ceiling price reductions. The next reduction will take place Oct. 1.

The step-by-step reduction in retail beef prices will result in an average decline of 10 percent by fall, Wagner said.

Actual percentage reduction will be partly dependent on the type and style of beef cuts, it is explained.

Ceiling prices effective next week hold retail prices at about the freeze level of last February.

The Office of Price Stabilization regulation controlling beef prices is part of a group of regulations that reduce the prices that slaughterers can pay for beef cattle and the wholesalers may charge retail butchers.

The cattle prices will be reduced about 10 percent on May 20, and another 4½ percent July 29. Still another 4½ percent reduction will be in effect Sept. 20.

Prices slaughterers may pay for cattle are the lowest which will protect cattle feeders against inventory losses on cattle acquired before the freeze date, it is stated.

The three reductions consider both the feeders' position and assurance of orderly marketing through normal channels, it is explained.

New beef ceiling prices are based on zones that take into account distances from markets, transportation and the like. In Columbus and southeastern Ohio ceilings for zone 12 apply, according to Wagner.

By FRANK CAREY
CLEVELAND, May 9 —(AP)—Two Florida scientists said today they are investigating the "possible use" of especially electrified air to try to retard or halt cancerous growths.

Doctors Boris Sokoloff and Walter H. Eddy of Florida Southern College at Lakeland said the studies still are limited to rats and mice.

But they told the American Association for Cancer Research that malignant growth in these rodents is "considerably retarded and in some instances tends to disappear" when the creatures are kept in an atmosphere of "negatively ionized air."

(Ions are electrical particles created in air when a neutral atom gains or loses electrons. When electrons are lost, the particle is positively electrified; when electrons are gained, the particle becomes a negative ion. Air can be ionized in either way by artificial means.)

The scientists said their studies indicated that cancerous tissue has a different electric charge from that of the surrounding normal tissue. And they declared that apparently these electric changes make the membrane of the cancer cell more permeable than a normal cell so that "feed stuffs enter the fast-growing diseased cells faster than in normal cells."

Their concept is that exposure of a cancer sufferer to especially electrified air might offset the abnormal electrical conditions within cancer cells and thus retard the growth of the malignancy and perhaps even halt it at some point.

In the animal studies they described, normal rats were first exposed to air highly ionized in a negative way. After several days,

Eagles Lodge Raises Money To Buy TV Set for Patients at Mt. Logan

Tuberculosis patients at Mt. Logan Sanatorium are finding that their days pass a little faster now that another television set has been put into use in that institution.

The TV set was recently donated to the institution by the Eagles Lodge of Washington C. H., Aerie No. 423.

But Charlie Osborne, secretary says that there is still a balance of $115 left to pay on the set. A contribution can be made at the Eagles Lodge here will receive the donations which will pay off the balance.

Receiving the set on behalf of the institution were the following Fayette Countians, all patients at Mt. Logan: F. M. Kennedy, Mrs. Marjorie Matthews, Wilbur Orr, Raymond Emrick and Eugene Wilson.

The donation of the set augments the two which are currently in use at Mt. Logan. All three will be rotated among the various rooms to afford the bed-ridden patients an opportunity for enjoyment during the time they are recovering from TB while in the sanatorium.

Chairman of the committee which is responsible for the drive to purchase the 17-inch screen television set is Harry Mack. Members of his committee are Ched Roberts, Charles Osborne and Dick Hays.

Ohio Forest Fires Cause Heavy Damage

Fayette Exempt from Periodic Fires in Timberland Areas

While Fayette County, with comparatively little timberland, is not subject to periodic forest fires, it is interesting to know that there were 662 forest fires in Ohio last year, which destroyed 14,775 acres of forest timber.

O. A. Alderman, chief of the Division of Forestry, announced the number of fires and damage done, in a report issued this week.

Alderman pointed out that while this is not a particularly good record, it represents a considerable decrease from the total number of fires the previous year, when 915 fires laid waste to 17,728 acres of timber.

The report estimates the total damage at $39,217.95 and lists a total of $6,541.03 spent for extra labor in extinguishing the fires.

Brush burning, long the principal offending cause of fires, again led the list in 1950. A total of 196 forest fires were attributed to this cause. Railroads, with 109; smoking, with 100, and incendiary fires, with 78, followed in that order.

Alderman states that the most heartening fact revealed was the decrease in the number of fires attributed to campers or campfires. Only six fires were started in the state during 1950 as a result of campfire negligence, representing only 1 percent of the total number.

The highest number fires occurred in Scioto County, 83; with Harrison county, listing 52; Jefferson, 44, and Lucas, 40. Hocking county, with only 18 fires reported; Adams, with 13; Lawrence, with 27 and Pike, with only 13, were considered exceptionally good records for these heavily forested counties.

The worst peak of hazard during the 1950 fire season, according to the report, was on March 27, when a total of 66 fires burned out of control on that day, destroying 5900 acres.

Russia Is Needed On V-E Anniversary

WASHINGTON, May 9 —(AP)—The State Department needed Moscow today on the anniversary of V-E Day for ignoring the western allies in Soviet victory claims.

Six years ago Generalissimo Stalin told the Russians when the Nazis surrendered that "Fascist Germany has been brought to her knees by the Red armies and the troops of our allies."

A year later, it was recalled by a "Voice of America" broadcast today, Stalin told the Russians victory was won "by our people." In 1947 Moscow was saying the Soviet army could have done it singlehanded. Then Russia abandoned any further observance of V-E Day.

BUILDING CURBS

We have been asked by a number of our customers whether there is any Government ban on the building of homes.

There is no ban on the building of private homes, unless the cost of the home is more than $35,000.00.

All buildings both public and private requiring more than twenty-five tons of steel must first be authorized by the National Production Authority.

There is also a ban on commercial building for amusement, recreational, or entertainment purposes.

There may be other curbs on building put in effect later on, but as they stand now, they will have no effect on the building of homes and farm buildings in Washington C. H. or Fayette County.

Pierson To Attend Meeting of Coaches

Fred Pierson, head football coach at WHS, today was preparing to go to Columbus for the meeting of the board of directors of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association Thursday night at the Neil House as the starter for a full week end of football at the state capital.

Friday, he plans to go back for the general meeting of the association and, besides, take in the football clinic at Ohio State University.

As a director of the association, he will participate in the discussion of plans for the annual all-star game which will be held at Middletown next August. Highlight of the general meeting of the association Friday night will be the election.

The OSU clinic, he said, had been set up to show some of the fine points of football and its development under rule changes.

There will be demonstrations of the single wing and "T" formation offenses, too.

The climax of the clinic will be the game between two teams of the Ohio State squad. The two platoon system is to be used.

Pierson said he is looking forward to the clinic with a view to getting some ideas for building the WHS Lions next fall.

Lions Win Easily From Wilmington

The Lions of WHS romped to an easy 15 to 0 victory over the Hurricane at Wilmington Tuesday afternoon in another SCO League baseball game behind the 4-hit pitching of Dale Orihood.

It was the second win of the season for the Lions over the Hurricane. And, there really wasn't much of it.

High spot of the game came in the fifth inning when Bob Alkire socked a home run with the bases loaded to account for four of the 7 runs scored by the Lions in that frame. They had another fat inning, the second, when they tallied five times.

The Lions set in on the Hurricane with a vengeance in a rebound from their 3-2 defeat at the hands of Linden-McKinley in the central district in Columbus the day before.

The Lions have three more games—with London, Frankfort and Circleville.

Red Birds Edged By Kansas City

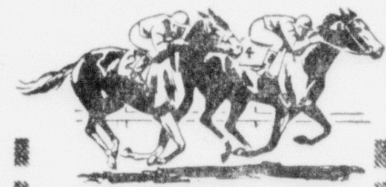

(By The Associated Press)
The home run appears to be Milwaukee's mightiest weapon in maintaining its lead in the American Association pennant race.

The Brewers relied on a circuit clout to win their fourth straight game by nudging the Toledo Mud Hens 4-3 last night. In each victory, a home run was the clincher.

Second-place Kansas City tallied three times in the eighth for a 6-5 win over Columbus.

Minneapolis took its second straight verdict from Louisville 11-5.

Indianapolis collected only four hits, but two of them were two-run homers, to down St. Paul 7-4.

Softball Season Opens Here Friday; Has Bearing on State Tourney Site

The softball season is going to open in Washington C. H. Friday night with a lot of fanfare for a game that could mean the difference between having the state tournament here or some where else next August 24-28.

Plans for the important curtain raiser today were being put together—but fast.

All this was disclosed Wednesday morning by Max Lawrence, the commissioner for this district.

The game Friday night is to bring together teams from Sabina and Greenfield at Wilson Field.

The game in itself is not so important, Lawrence said; what makes the difference is that Nick Barrack, state softball association commissioner, will be there taking notes.

The game in itself is not so important, Lawrence said; what makes the difference is that Nick Barrack, state softball association commissioner, will be there taking notes.

Braddocks Are Again Married

Final Chapter of Unusual Case Written

According to a telephone message received here from Cincinnati Tuesday night, Fred Braddock and Minerva Braddock were remarried Friday.

Miss Beverly Gorton of Washington C. H. said that early Tuesday night Mrs. Braddock called her and said she and her former husband were married Friday.

Miss Gorton said Fred Braddock also talked to her after his wife had first called her, and also said that they were married.

No details of the time and place were given, Miss Gorton said, and the Braddocks did not say where they were stopping in Cincinnati.

Reports state that the Braddocks went to the Kentucky Derby, leaving here last Friday. It is presumed the marriage took place in Kentucky.

The final chapter to the sensational disappearance of Mrs. Braddock and her return recently, giving little explanation of her mysterious absence for three months, was received here without surprise.

The Braddocks had been twice married before, and were twice divorced.

After the first divorce Mrs. Braddock went to California, where she was joined by her former husband, and they were remarried there. The first divorce was granted here Dec. 11, 1948.

The last divorce was granted here April 26, 1950. Braddock filed both actions.

Braddock owns the Braddock Motor Freight, Inc., which operates a fleet of trucks out of Washington C. H.

The Braddocks had not returned here up to noon Wednesday.

School Building Plan

tend the county-wide high school. The board members are split over which plan should be followed. Those who favor building more classrooms, either by a separate building or by additions, say that the city school system should take care of its immediate needs -- the crowding in the elementary schools.

They contend that a new county high school would cost too coetly and would not win the support of the rural residents.

Those who favor the county-wide high school claim that it would relieve crowding both in the elementary grades and in the high school. They say that an elementary building program would not provide for increased enrollments anticipated in the high school. They claim that such a school would provide expanded educational opportunities for both city and county and could be financed by both city and county.

Much Business Discussed
Other business discussed by the board members included the following: toilet facilities in the elementary schools for youths taking part in the city recreation program on the school grounds, the calendar for the school year and end of the year activities, fuel consumption at the elementary schools, school finances, rules and regulations for the salary schedule and modern office bookkeeping.

Provision will be made for providing toilet facilities for youths taking part in the summer recreation program in the elementary schools, with the city Recreation Commission paying for any temporary partitions needed to close off the toilet areas from the rest of the school.

Representatives of the school board will ask the County Commissioners next week for money from the Eyman fund to help replace ranges which have deteriorated within the past few years. The Eyman fund has provided

The answers to everyday insurance problems *
By Leonard Korn and Dana Hryn

Believing wholeheartedly in the philosophy that you have to "give" before you can "get" and believing also that in these days of complexities most people will be really interested in reading the solutions to their own and their neighbors' everyday insurance problems, we decided to try something a little different.

Beginning next week this advertising space will be devoted each week to a column of questions and answers on insurance problems which are common in the lives of all of us.

Frankly, this column will be in itself a form of advertising but the offer to answer your insurance questions without charge or obligation is genuine and has no strings attached. We'll really appreciate an opportunity to be of service to you.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

Meter Collections Are $451 for Week

Parking meter collections for the past week reached $451.50.

The Monday count was $291, and the previous Thursday count was $160.50.

Comparatively few slugs have been placed in the meters recently, and suspects are being watched in an effort to apprehend them in the act.

It is expected that when the rush farm work is over the parking meter collection will show an increase.

Rost Has Solution To Reading Minutes

Organizations plagued with hearing "minutes" of the previous meeting" read might take a cue from Fred Rost, business manager of the city schools and clerk of the City Board of Education.

He started something new at the board meeting Tuesday night. Rost merely handed out minutes of the past meeting before the members sat in session.

When the meeting had been called to order, Rost asked that a resolution be passed which stated that a summary of the minutes of the previous meeting had been read by each board member and that "such summary constitutes the reading of the minutes". The resolution was passed, and the reading of the minutes was dispensed with in about two minutes.

Ordinarily some five to 10 minutes or more would be devoted to the reading of the minutes.

By handing the minutes out before the meeting was held the board members had an opportunity to examine them and make any suggestions for corrections when the resolution vote was called for.

Kirk and Cobb announced that the sale back to Galvin is being made because of a change in plans eliminating their need for the farm. Possession will be given next Tuesday.

Along with the sale of the farm was included the famous young pacing sire Wilmington 4, 1:59 1/2, a two minute sire.

Galvin, who is president of the Washington News Publishing Co., publishers of the Record-Herald, stated that the plans he had when he sold the farm failed to materialize and brought about his re-purchasing of it.

The developing effort to finance an improved highway system through heavier taxes on both the motoring public and commercial users came as the House was completing the legislature's overriding of Gov. Lausche's only veto of the present assembly session.

The Senate overrode Monday and the House rejected the veto of the bill yesterday, breaking the last link between the two colleges at Wilberforce. The House vote was 92-31--11 more affirmative votes than were needed.
